

Green Chemistry

Dr. Kinjal Shah , Associate Professor at Nanjing Tech University, China delivered a Lecture on “Implementation of Green Chemistry for sustainable Development “ to 2nd and 3rd year students on 21/1/20. He explained in detail about using green chemistry for sustainable development. He shared one of the research done by him in which he used green chemistry to save plant and water bodies in china.

He discuss about present scenario of chemical industries where maximum sustainable process is require and what the role students are supposed to play as Chemical Engineer in the industry.

