

BIS Standard Writing Competition

23rd April, 2024

Students from the Mechanical, Biomedical, Automobile, and Textile Technology departments participated in a standard writing competition that was held at the L. D. College of Engineering in Ahmedabad on April 24th, 2024. The competition was part of an event that was organized by the Department of Mechanical Engineering in collaboration with the Bureau of Indian Standards. Participants are expected to have a greater awareness and comprehension of the numerous standards that are in place in India as a result of this program. More than eighty-five individuals from four different engineering specializations took part in this event. A standard writing competition featuring a variety of engineering-related topics was developed to promote active involvement throughout the competition. Students were allowed to develop their own standards on a particular subject related to their career. Because of this, they are motivated to conduct studies on a certain subject and to follow a consistent procedure for development. Individuals competed against one another in groups, and the development was carried out by professionals. Every group's top four winners were each given a reward for their accomplishments.
